

Special Appearance by
Villa Riviera

ROA 2016 International Meet
 Colonial Williamsburg, Virginia
 June 27-30, 2016

Villa Riviera, the 1963 George Barris custom that has appeared in numerous films, television, magazines and custom shows for the past 52 years, will be on display at our annual meet. This famous Barris creation first appeared in a 1964 movie For Those Who Think Young, starring James Darren, Nancy Sinatra and Bob Denver. The car was designed as a bright Candy Apple Red with a white leather interior. But the paint was changed to white for use in the movie.

Darren had exclusive use of the car for years before it traveled the custom show circuit and later sat in a California movie museum. In 1983 Barris sold the car and it went through two private collections before an ROA member bought it last October. Since then the car has been totally restored to its original condition.

Villa Riviera will be on display all week “inside” our event / hospitality room for registered members and their guests to enjoy.

On Thursday, from 7am—2pm, during the car show, our event / hospitality room will be open to non-registered members and the public to view the car and shop vendors.
